Dear Parents/Carers,

Within the PSHE (Personal, Social and Health Education) curriculum there is a mandatory requirement for schools to provide teaching on the seven differences within the Equality Act 2010. These are; Gender, Ability, Ethnicity, Sexual Orientation, Gender Identity, Age and Religion.

Here at Willow Tree we have addressed this in a number of ways both through our Diversity Day (for Years 5 and 6) and through our Growing and Changing Lessons which are delivered in the summer term from Years 1 – 6. These areas of learning have strengthened our diverse and inclusive school, and support the ethos of the school.

This year the school has also chosen to participate in the Rainbow Flag Award. This award is something that many schools chose to participate in each year to promote inclusion in its widest sense and forms part of an approach designed to challenge and prevent, among other things, transphobic and homophobic bullying. All topics covered are age appropriate and reflect the values of our school.

If you have any questions regarding the curriculum content please contact the school office to make an appointment to see Ms Martin or Mrs Reed (Rainbow Flag Co-Ordinator). This will give you an opportunity to discuss these concerns, view the materials used and discuss the curriculum outline.

Yours Sincerely,
